Terry,

bHIP Energy 9.3gram packettes are labeled with a two-year expiration date. Prior to the 2-year expiration date, packettes were labeled with a one-year expiration date. The formula is currently going through stability testing to validate the two-year expiration date. The formula is the same for the two-year expiration date packettes and for the one-year expiration date packettes. Therefore, the testing being done confirming the formula with the two-year expiration date, also applies to the same formula with the one-year expiration date; and these packettes can be labeled with a two-year expiration date.
